Quarterly Preview / Target Change

Q1E: Revs +7.4% & Adj. EBITDA +5.8% (similar to consensus)

We forecast Revs $2040M, Adj. EBITDA $856M (margin 42% vs. 42.6%) and Adj. EPS $1.21, with consensus at $2042M, $861M and $1.19, respectively. TRI telegraphed organic Q1 revs growth of ~7% and Adj. EBITDA margin of ~42%. Besides one-time costs of $10M (similar level expected for rest of 2026), Tax, Audit & Accounting will see M&A dilution of -200 bps and Reuters -400 bps given added Olympics costs - these two items drive our slight EBITDA variation to Street. TRI expects growth to ramp post-Q1.

2026 guidance & 2027-2028 margin outlook reflect optimism

Organic/total revs growth seen as 7.5%-8.0% with Big 3 up ~9.5%, with Adj. EBITDA margin +100 bps to ~40.2% for total and ~44.6% for Big 3. Capex intensity ~8.0% and FCF ~$2.1B. TRI expects Adj. EBITDA margin to expand by ~100 bps in 2027 and 2028 given underlying operating leverage and anticipated productivity gains. Legal continues to see solid underlying momentum, with government spending to be monitored through 2026 (Q4/25 saw government +5% but will be slower in Q1/26 based on government cancellations noted during TRI's Q3/25 call). ACV for GenAI 28% in Q4/25 (24% Q3, 22% Q2, 20% Q1, 18% Q4/24). Despite headlines, TRI's highlighting the differentiation between professional-grade AI versus general purpose model AI, as it remains confident about its ability to win with agentic AI and improve upon its competitive positioning in key markets, as it leverages proprietary content, deep domain expertise and investments in AI, while legal AI workflows are white space for TRI that's additive to its traditional research & content.

Awaiting approvals for return of capital & share consolidation

On Feb. 25, TRI announced plans to repurchase up to $600M of its shares under a new NCIB ($262M done in Q1) and pursue its third return of capital transaction over the past decade, this time for $605M. TRI will hold a special meeting of shareholders on April 28 and Ontario Superior Court approval is also required before the transactions take effect in early May.

Maintain Outperform and target of C$175

Target is based on average of 2026E DCF & 2027E NAV with 15.5x weighted-average EBITDA applied to five segments. FX used 1.35.

RISKS:

Economic & FX: The company's productivity tools enhance the efficiencies of its business and government customers; however, an economic downturn can create challenges for clients who are forced to curb spending. The functional currency is USD, so FX is something to keep track of regarding sales outside the United States and the shares on the S&P/TSX.

Political/Regime Changes: While the implications of legal, accounting and regulatory changes that may come about from different government administrations offer opportunities for Thomson Reuters, these may also be monitored in terms of how they may affect customer demand.

Segment employment levels: U.S. employment levels at lawyers' offices and accounting & bookkeeping services will need to be closely watched for overall declines and trends that may be caused by general economic pressures, industry challenges or structural changes.
